Winds (mph)	WSW 4-8	WSW 4-8	SW 5-10	SW 6-12	SW 10-15	SW 10-15

Today – There maybe an isolated shower early this morning. Otherwise a mix of sun and clouds can be expected today with highs warming to around 80 degrees. Light wind out of the WSW this morning will shift to the southwest later today and increase to 10-15 mph. Can't rule out an isolated shower or two late in the day as the southwest flow provides higher humidity.

Extended forecast – Clouds will be on the increase on Friday as a cold front approaches from the west. The wind will be strong throughout the day out of the SW 20-25 gusting to 35 mph. Showers will likely return by Friday evening before the cold front produces a band of rain and isolated thunderstorms late Friday night into early Saturday morning. Drier conditions will return by mid to late morning Saturday with clearing skies expected. Sunday will start the day dry before the front lifts back to the north bringing the chance for showers late in the day into Sunday evening.

Forecast prepared by meteorologist Stewart Williams.
